T.rex gets Christmas jumper at Natural History Museum in London

© 6 December 2021

The T.rex has had a festive but fearsome makeover

A giant Christmas jumper has been created for a Tyrannosaurus Rex at London's Natural History Museum.

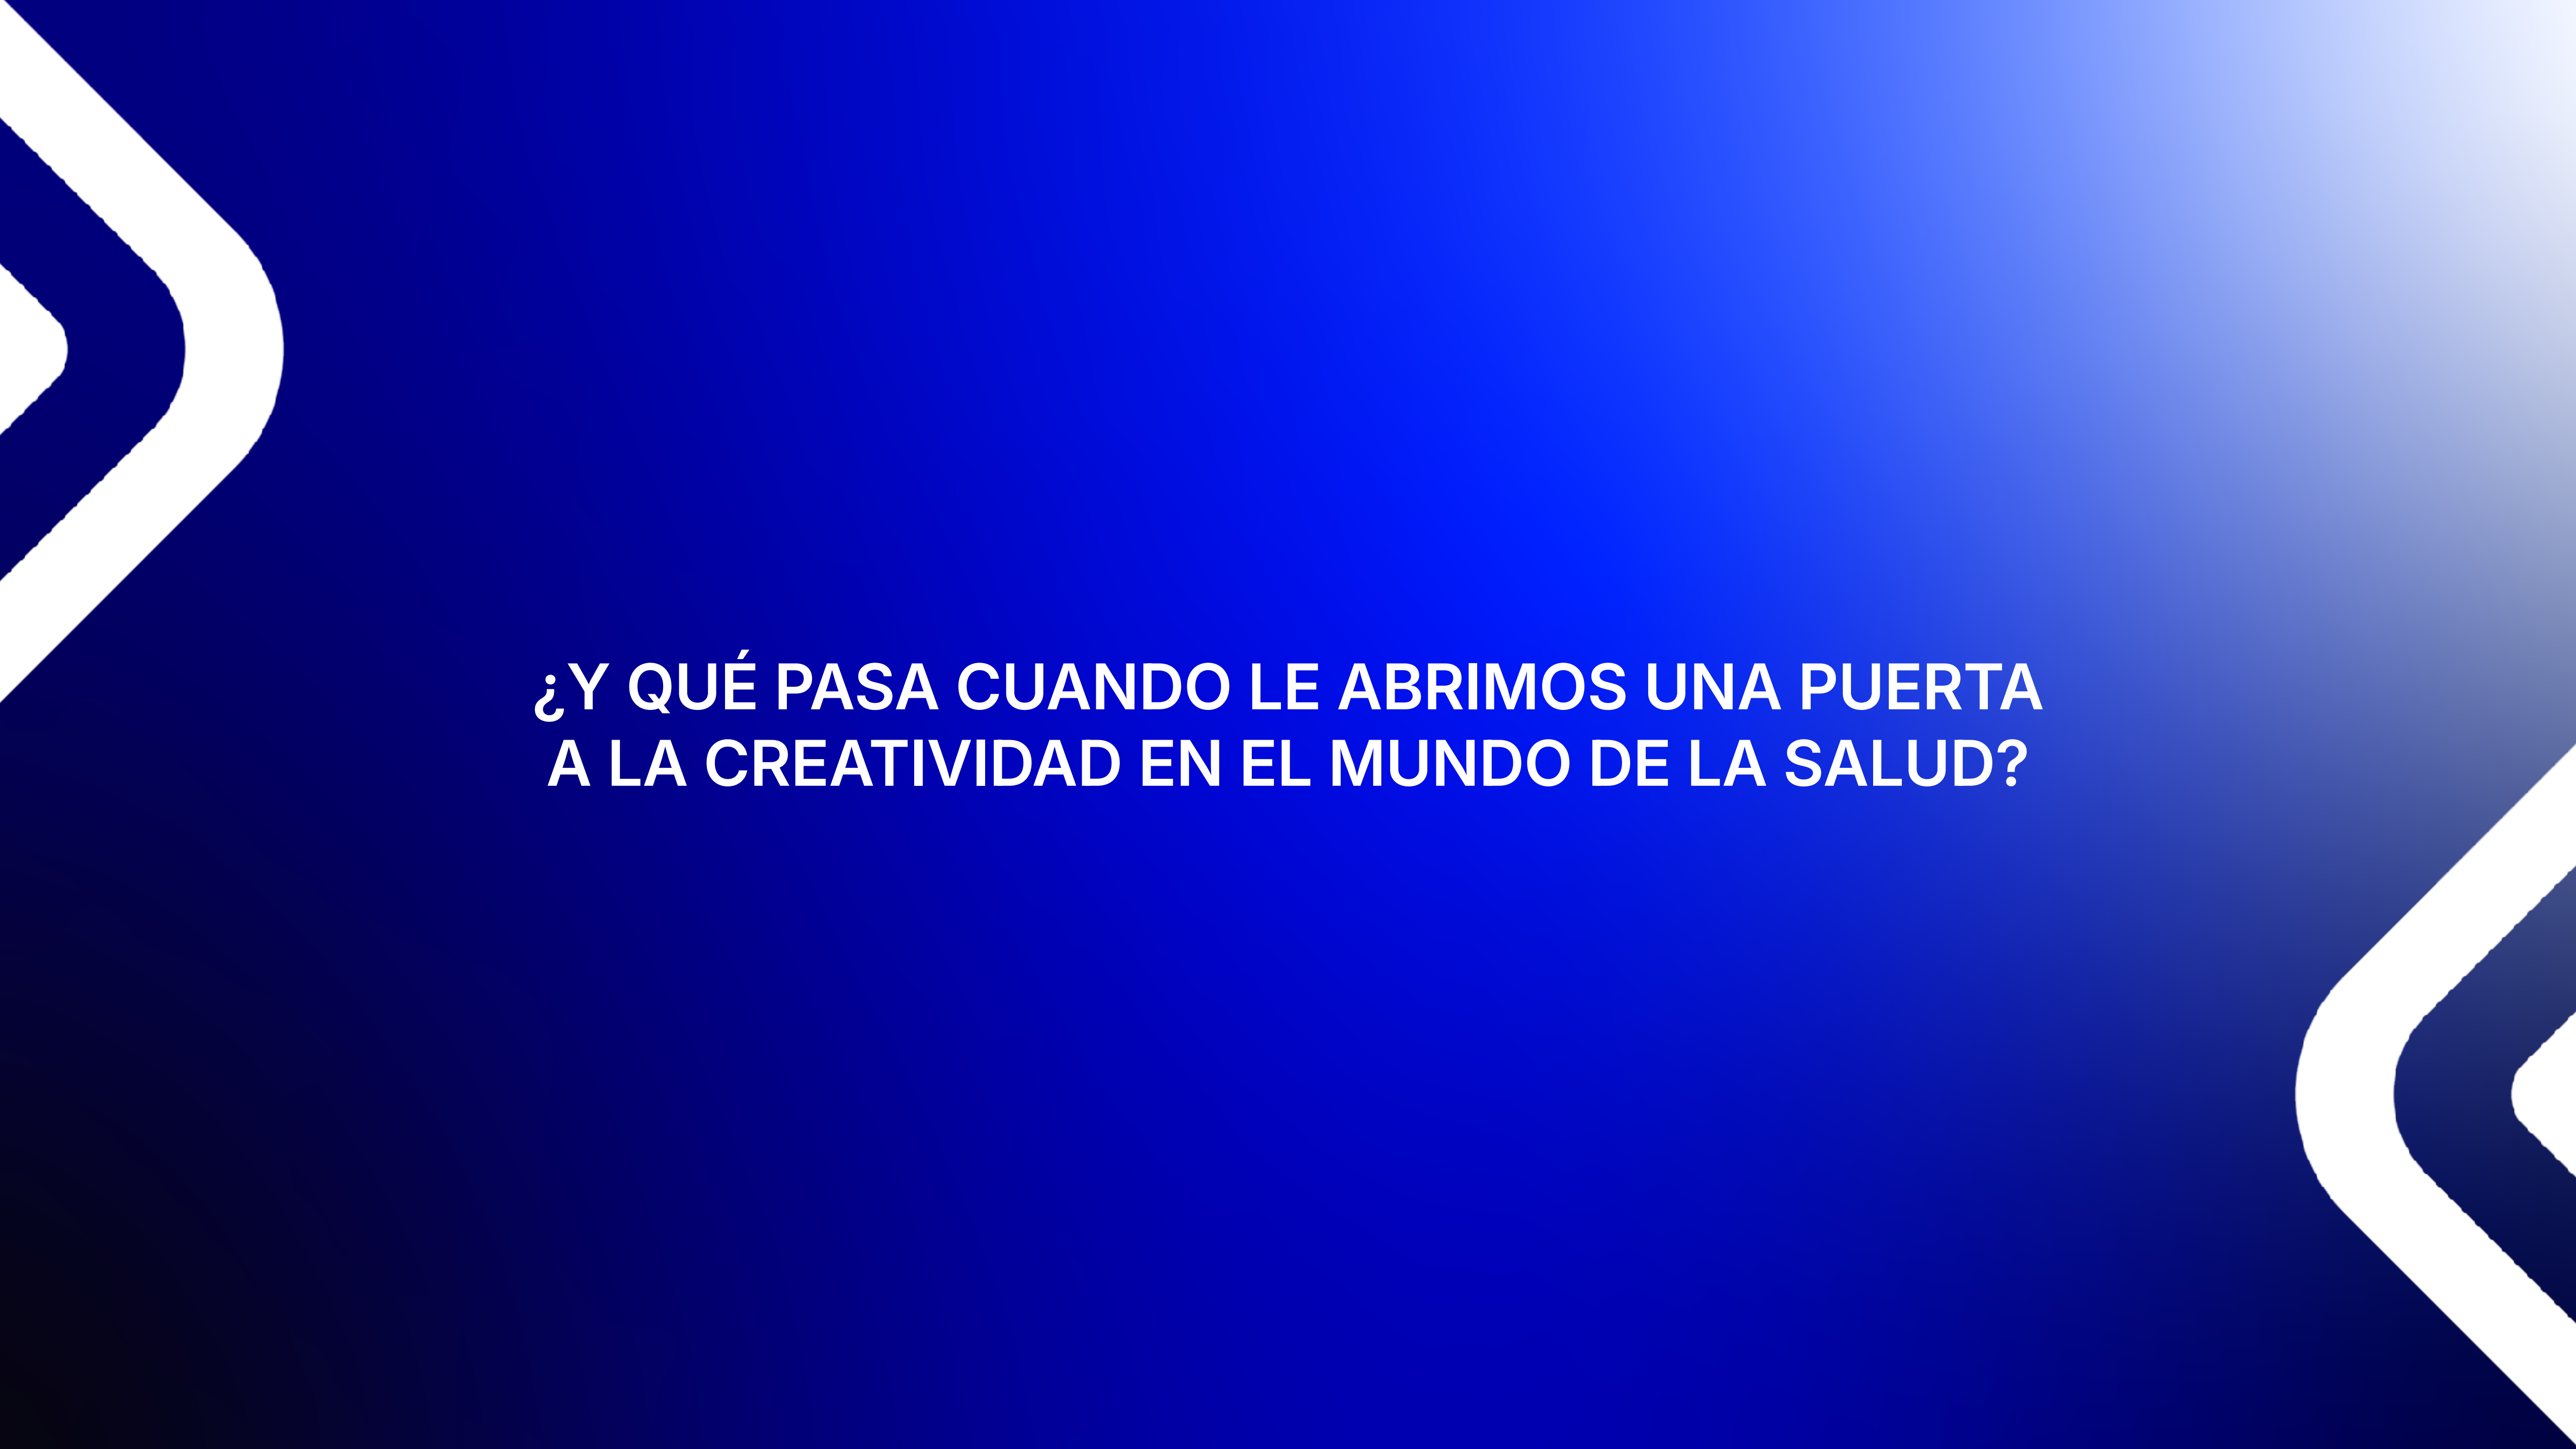

The animatronic T.rex is sporting the festive knit, which has been made by a family-run firm in Leicester.

British Christmas Jumpers has previously produced sweaters for Ed Sheeran and the Houses of Parliament.

Director Snahal Patel said the latest design was the company's biggest job yet and took staff 100 hours to complete.

Two year old Patricia Puia sat on her mother's lap, unable to hear the gentle voice that tried to comfort her. Deaf from birth, her life in Romania was lived in silence. But a month after undergoing cochlear implant surgery at Mount Sinai, the silence was filled with the sounds of a world Patricia never knew existed. "I feel like I've just given birth to this child for the second time," her mother said tearfully. "But this time she hears." 1-800-MD-SINAI • www.mountsinai.org

WE TURNED A CHILD WHO COULDN'T HEAR INTO A TYPICAL 2 YEAR OLD WHO DOESN'T LISTEN.

Matthew Strain knows what a damaged mitral valve feels like—he's had one his entire life. But just two years ago, he had it repaired by Dr. David Adams, a world-renowned mitral valve surgeon at Mount Sinai Heart. And now, two years after heart surgery, Matthew is unstoppable. He's been training harder and getting stronger. And soon, he'll be feeling better than ever. Especially after 260 million people see No. 61118 cross the finish line. 1-800-MD-SINAI • mountsinai.org

IF YOU

REALLY WANT TO SEE WHAT A REPAIRED

HEART VALVE LOOKS LIKE,

NEW YORK CITY MARATHON.

The patient was a well-respected surgical oncologist with a life-threatening aortic aneurysm. The surgeon was Dr. Michael L. Marin, the first doctor in the country to perform a minimally invasive aortic aneurysm repair. And the results were remarkable. In fact, just 14 days after his recovery, the cancer surgeon was back in the operating room. Only this time, he was the one saving lives. 1-800-MD-SINAI • www.mountsinai.org

Womanikin

A universal attachment to challenge biased CPR training.

CONTEXT

DID YOU KNOW THAT PEOPLE WITH BREASTS ARE LESS LIKELY TO RECEIVE CPR?

27% LESS LIKELY TO BE EXACT.

We found 3 key barriers to women getting CPR at the same rate as men.

- 1 Cardiovascular disease is the #1 killer of women, but people still think of it as a man's issue.
- 2 Even when bystanders do think a woman is in cardiac arrest, they are often uncomfortable touching boobs to deliver CPR.
- 3 When people DO deliver CPR to a woman, they often do it incorrectly. They can be unsure of where to put their hands, or afraid to push down hard and fast on a woman.

Major health organizations teach tens of millions of people CPR every year, but none of them teach it on a woman.

IDEA

We designed a universal attachment that can easily be slipped over the common flat chested CPR Manikin to add breasts.

This inclusive attachment is available as an open source template, allowing any CPR program to make their own with just 3 simple materials at a very low cost:

- A zipper, neoprene fabric and 2 mastectomy prosthetics.

DESIGN PATTERNS

"The concept is excellent for two reasons: it will help increase adoption of CPR in women, but also aid in reducing gender bias regarding health care."
